- Experience using web technologies such as PHP, Java Servlets, MySQL, etc

Company background

Overlay Media develops mobile technology. We sell this technology to other businesses.

More specifically, Overlay Media creates software and algorithms for next generation mobile phones. These devices will be context-aware – they will be able to determine types of movement activities (walking, driving, etc.), reason about relationships between the user and their visited locations (home, office, etc.) and perform predictions as to where the user might go next. Overlay Media's vision is to improve the mobile experience by creating and leveraging these kinds of capabilities.
